

Shane Jones 27 February 2025

Go for a walk in the Kaimais if you are up to it and see the tracks and tramways where large native trees had once been. A previous Government had thought it important to cut them down: Ignorant fools with short term dollar signs in their eyes that ruined the place for generations to come. Far better now to put the wetlands back to rebuild the fisheries for annual national prosperity without ongoing cost while also growing kahikatea forest to shade it. See www.wetlandsnz.com Background copy letters.